GOES TO TUSKEGEE.

Also Sees Old Darkies Picking the Fleecy Staple.

SPEAKS TO NEGROES

Introduced by Booker T. Washington to Students of Normal and Industrial Institute and Addresses Them.

Tuskegee, Ala., Oct. 24.—President Roosevelt and party arrived at Tuskegee at 8 o'clock this morning.

The city had been beautifully decorated. A number of arches, the foundation of which were bales of cotton, had been erected and covered with bunting. The platform from which the president spoke was made from $3000 worth of the fleecy staple.

Chief executive was met by a reception committee, among whom were Mayor Lewis and Rev. John Hussey, president of the Alabama Corburne (Methodist) Female college. Escorted by a company of state militia, the president was driven to the college grounds, which represented a typical southern scene. Cotton had been transplanted along the road and old southern negroes with cotton in sacks on their shoulders were engaged picking from plants. Baskets of cotton were scattered about the field.

Mr. Roosevelt was greeted by the students at the institution and public school children. He made a short address and at its conclusion left for the Tuskegee Normal and Industrial school.

The president was received by Principal Booker T. Washington and members of the institute board of trustees and faculty. He then entered a finely built carriage made by students of the school, drawn by horses raised at the school, and driven by a student in school-made uniform. Four other carriages, also made by students, in which were seated members of the president's party, followed. The party proceeded immediately to the elaborately decorated stand in front of the office building, surmounted by the president's flag. From this point he reviewed an educational and industrial parade. After the parade had passed the party was taken to the chapel, where the students, led by the institute choir of 10 voices, sang a number of plantation melodies. Principal Washington then presented the president.

"To the white population, as well as the black," said the president, "it is of the utmost importance that the negro be encouraged to make himself a citizen of the highest type and usefulness. It is to the interest of the white people that this policy be conscientiously pursued, and to the interest of the colored people that they clearly realize that they have opportunities for economic development here in the south not even offered elsewhere. Within the last twenty years the industrial operations of the south have increased so tremendously that there is a scarcity of labor almost everywhere, so that it is the part of wisdom for those who wish for the prosperity of the south to help the negro to become, in the highest degree, useful to himself. The south has always developed, and now depends chiefly upon his native population for his work. Therefore, in view of the scarcity not only of common labor, but of skilled labor, it becomes doubly important to train every man to be of the utmost use by developing his intelligence, his skill and his capacity for conscientious effort. Hence, the work of the Tuskegee Normal Industrial institution is a matter of the highest practical importance to both the white man and the black man, and well worth the support of both races alike to the north and the south. Your 1500 students are not only being educated in head and heart, but also trained to industrial efficiency. For from the beginning Tuskegee has placed a special emphasis upon training of men and women in agricultural, mechanics and household duties. Training in these three fundamental directions does not embrace all that the negro or any other race needs, but it does cover, in a very large degree, the field in which the negro can at present do most for himself and be most helpful to his white neighbors. Every black man who leaves this institute is better able to do industrial work, which adds so much to the wealth of the community and benefit to the people."

Continuing, Mr. Roosevelt said every white man, in the interest of humanity, of justice and of self-preservation, should try to help the negro to help himself. He declared lawlessness was not confined to any one section. "Lynching is not confined to any one section, and there is perhaps no body of American citizens who have deserved so well of the entire American people as the publicists, the clergymen, the country's thousands of high-minded citizens, who have done such heroic work in the south in arousing public opinion against lawlessness in all its forms, and especially against lynching. I very earnestly hope that their example will count in the north, as well as in the south, for there are just as great evils to be warned against in one region of our country as in another, though they are not in all places the same evils. And when anybody in a community stands bravely for what is right, these men not only serve a useful purpose in doing the particular task to which they set themselves, but give a hint to the cause of good citizenship throughout the Union."

He praised the white men of Alabama, and particularly the white men of Tuskegee, for what they have done. He suggested that whenever differences arose between the men, the best men on both sides should get together and settle them. The negroes were recommended to observe laws and help themselves; to war against crime, and especially against crime of men of your own race." He said the race cannot expect to get everything at once; that it must prove itself worthy by showing its appreciation of thrift, of self-control.

In conclusion, the president said the future of the south depends upon people of both races living up to the spirit and letter of the law of their several states, "and working out the destinies of both races, not as races, but as law-abiding American citizens."

In beginning his speech, President Roosevelt said: "Mr. Washington and each student and graduate of Tuskegee: You cannot be as much inspired by anything I may say as I have been inspired by what I have seen here. Mr. Washington, it is a liberal education in itself just to come here to see this great focus of civilization. Now, I had read a good deal of your work, and I believe in it with all my heart. I would not call myself a good American if I did not. I was prepared to see what would impress men and please me, but I had no idea that I would be so deeply impressed, so deeply pleased as I have been. I did not realize the extent of your work. I did not realize how much you were doing."

"COSSACKS COMING!"

This Cry Raised and a Disastrous
Panic Was the Result.

Karkoff, Russia, Oct. 24.—Serious conflicts between troops and people during which there were many casualties on both sides, occurred here Monday night. While a meeting of 20,000 citizens, students and workmen were in progress the cry of "Cossacks are coming!" were suddenly raised and a panic followed. Many persons were injured in the crush. Subsequently the crowd came in conflict with a detachment of cavalry. Revolver shots were fired by some civilians and small bombs hurled among the cavalry. The latter whereupon fired two volleys with blank cartridges and then fired with bullets. Both sides suffered severely. Many wounded were left on the ground when the crowds dispersed. Strikers since plundered gunsmiths' stores and armed themselves. A number of bakeries have been destroyed and all work has been stopped at others. Scarcity in necessities of life is already felt here.

CANAL CONSTRUCTION.

Government Willing to Contract With Corporations or Individuals.

Washington, Oct. 24.—The government of the United States is willing to enter into contracts with corporations or individuals for the construction of any portion or all of the Panama canal. This statement was made by Secretary Taft while discussing conditions upon the isthmus, and the policy of the government. There is some doubt in his mind whether any concern would be willing to undertake the excavation of the Culebra cut, because of the magnitude of that work. It is not the excavation that will be so difficult as the disposition of the earth taken from the cut.

"CONNECTICUT BILLY."

Party Killed by a Clerk Was One of a Gang of Burglars.

Ogdenburg, N. Y., Oct. 24.—A photograph of the burglar killed by the clerk while robbing a store at Sheldon was identified by Chief Inspector Watts of Boston as that of "Connecticut Billy," one of a gang of postoffice burglars. "Billy" took part in a bank burglary at Warrenton, Va., and later was apprehended for a job in Ohio. After a term in Columbus prison he traveled with a gang of professionals through West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Ohio.

LARGE SUM STOLEN.

Bank Burglarized and Six Thousand Dollars Carried Away.

Ridgeville, Ind., Oct. 24.—Between 1 and 2 o'clock Tuesday morning seven robbers blew open the safe in the Ridgeville State bank and escaped with about $6000. The explosion aroused Cashier Branson, who hurried to the bank in time to receive a bullet in ankle. Before going to the institution the robbers met the night watchman, and overpowering him bound him hand and foot.

LEFT TO RUSSELL.

American Minister Will Try to Arrange Franco-Venezuela Affair.

Caracas, Oct. 24.—The government at Washington has commissioned American Minister Russell to endeavor to arrange the Franco-Venezuelan diplomatic incident. Mr. Russell goes to Los Teques to have an interview with President Castro.

Whitcapping Charged.

Waxahachie, Tex., Oct. 24.—An investigation of the grand jury of an alleged attempt to drive negroes from Palmer section has resulted in the indictment of a young man named McMillan. McMillan was apprehended in Comanche county.

BRYAN, TEXAS, OCTOBER 25.

Anyhow, Roosevelt will not have to pay any duty on the 14-foot alligator presented to him in Florida.

Alleged knowing ones are proclaiming that Bryan and Taft will be the opposing presidential candidates in 1908.

If you want to make an allround, good-for-nothing tough out of your boy just butt in and take his side on every question which comes up with his teacher, and if you want him to have a good start to the penitentiary be sure and let him know that he can always depend upon your assistance, in whatever trouble he may get into, right or wrong.—Italy Herald.

Bartlett is lamenting the loss of the oil mill by fire, and the chances are that cotton seed will bring two dollars or more less per ton than when the mill was running. This gives the farmers of that section an opportunity like they have been having at Bryan to find out what an oil mill is worth to them, and that it, like all home enterprises, deserves the patronage of every man in the surrounding territory with seed to sell.—Caldwell News-Chronicle.

of Federal officers that the fight is practically over is evidenced in the rapidity with which quarantines are being done away. There seems no reason to doubt that within a week none will be left.

Grant, Iberia, Caldwell, Point Coupee, St. Mary's, Carroll and Calcasieu have been opening up their doors to New Orleans. As a result of the heavy frosts a large number of Mississippi towns have discharged inspectors and ordered removal of all embargoes on travel. Jackson and Mobile, however, are exceptions to the general movement to restore intercourse, both of these cities declining to act favorably on an appeal for abrogation of quarantine.

The fever has been completely stamped out of Lake Providence. Talulah is practically rid of the fever. Up to noon Tuesday there was only one new yellow fever case.

CABINET CHANGES.

It Is Thought There Will Be Some Radical Moves Made.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Washington says: Soon after the return of President Roosevelt to Washington from his southern tour there will be renewal of rumors regarding impending changes in the cabinet, and within six months after the reopening of congress it is then more likely the complexion of the cabinet will be completely changed. This does not mean that every one at present in the cabinet is to go out, but there will be two or three new members and probably three radical changes in positions before the close of the current fiscal year.

Secretary Shaw is to go out of the cabinet of his own motion as preliminary to his formal entry into the presidential race. The vacancy at the head of the United States treasury department will be filled, according to the present outlook, by the transfer of Postmaster General Cortelyou. Attorney General Moody has been expected to go out for some time. He remains at head of the department of justice largely, if not entirely, that he may carry on the prosecution of the beef trust cases. His place probably will be filled by Charles J. Bonaparte, at present secretary of the navy. This in turn will create another vacancy, and the new head of the navy, according to the present slate, is De George von L. Mayer, the present ambassador to Russia.

Forty-Seven Years Old and Outlived Coffin Intended For Him.

Paris, Tex., Oct. 24.—A mule belonging to R. Neal of near Rattan, Delta county, aged forty-seven years, has ceased to exist. The animal had been in the family ever since it was a colt, and was given to Mr. Neal by his father. It had never knicked or harmed any of the children. The animal was as blind as a bat and did not have a tooth in its head at the time of its death. It had to be fed bran mash and soft feed. Sixteen years ago the mule was taken sick, and while the owner was in Paris he purchased a piano box to bury it in, but the mule survived until the box rotted.

LOCOMOTIVE EXPLODES.

String of Cars Broke Loose and Ran Into Freight Train.

Brownwood, Tex., Oct. 25.—A bad wreck occurred west of here between Bangs and Santa Anna. A string of cars got loose, with brakes off, and dashed into a westbound freight train, causing the engine to explode and several cars were burned. The train crew escaped by jumping. A man riding in the caboose, whose name could not be learned is missing and it is feared that he was killed, some believing he was burned in the ruins.

Dr. W. E. Behrens, the famous mental science healer, is at Mrs. Leman's boarding house. Dr. Behrens has a large advertisement in this paper telling about his work.

Prof. E. C. Green left College Monday for a trip through the Corpus Christi and Brownsville country to study irrigation as the problem is presented by conditions in that country, and will issue a bulletin on the subject at a later date. Prof. Carson left on the same date for a tour doing institute work.

C. M. Fain, T. F. Fitzgerald, Barney McLain, Allison Gustavus, Mr. Hawkins and others were here from Rogers Prairie yesterday. Mr. Fain says the Trinity & Brazos Valley railroad people are pushing the work in that locality and have received large numbers of teams and wheel scrapers the past few days.

C. W. Covington of Tabor was in the city yesterday and called on the Eagle. He will leave Friday with his family for Uvalde county, where they will make their home. Many friends in Bryan and Brazos county regret their departure. Mr. Covington has been a citizen of Brazos county twenty-nine years and he and his family are highly respected and esteemed. The Eagle commends them to the people of Uvalde county among whom they will reside.

SIN'S CONSEQUENCES.

Innocent Indulgence Often Brings Trouble
—E. J. Jenkins Offers Means of Escape.

The consequences of violating physical law are often as unpleasant as the breaking of a moral rule. The innocent indulgence of over-eating bring consequences that amount to real suffering. Indigestion is not natural; it is not right; it should not be. E. J. Jenkins offers a means of escape in Mi-o-na tablets that is simple and practical.

These simple tablets are composed of such valuable medicinal agents as bismuth subgallate, which is superior to all other remedies for stomach troubles, cerium oxalate, and tonics and correctives which promote the action of the digestive organs, strengthen the whole digestive tract, and make it possible to eat what you like and when you like.

If you suffer with headaches, indigestion, flatulency, heart-burn, dizziness, sleeplessness, back-ache, or debility or weakness, begin the use of Mi-o-na at once. Just one tablet out of a 50 cent box before each meal, and you will regain perfect health and strength.

Ask E. J. Jenkins to show you the guarantee under which he sells Mi-o-na. It costs nothing unless it cures. The risk is all his.

The Eagle reporter accepted an invitation yesterday to look at Mr. Jno. B. Mike's fine turkeys before he makes up his shipments to go to the Dallas and San Antonio fairs. Mr. Mike unquestionably has the finest turkeys in the state, a fact attested by the prizes they have previously taken at the state fairs. He has thirty-one Bronze Tom turkeys which weigh from 40 to 65 pounds each, and are well worth a visit to his home to see them. His prize Tom weighs 65 pounds and is well worth $25.00. Mr. Mike has his turkeys raised on farms over the county, and is splendidly prepared for taking care of them at home. He has a long row of coops, almost as large as cattle stalls, roofed over and wired in. They are clean and airy and give his birds plenty of room, at the same time keeping them gentle.

MOBILE'S WELCOME.

Historic Old Alabama City Entertains President.

GREAT IS GREETING

Driven Over Magnificent Government Street, Taken to Bienville Square, Given a Lovely Souvenir, Praised and Cheered.

Mobile, Oct. 24.—That peace hath her victories no less renowned than war was never better exemplified than in the reception accorded to Theodore Roosevelt during his two hours' stay in the historic city of Mobile Monday evening. There was a general closing of all business houses and along the route of the procession, from the union depot to the stand on Bienville square, where the reception ceremonies took place. The residences and stores were covered with decorations of lights and bunting of the national colors. The route lay out Government street, one of the most noted drives in the south, for ten blocks, passing the homes of some of Mobile's most influential citizens, her chief educational institution, Barton academy and of her historic churches. The sidewalks and streets along Government street were packed with humanity, and at McGill's institute, Barton academy and at one or two other points hundreds of school children were massed, who sang national anthems and songs as the procession passed. Cheer after cheer rent the air. The procession was headed by a platoon of police, followed by Colonel R. B. Dupont of First regiment, Alabama National guard and staff, with the Mobile battalion following. Two companies of artillery from Fort Morgan followed the National guard and then the cadets of the University Military school. Behind the young boys came the battle scarred veterans of Raphael Semmes and Jones M. Withers camps, United Confederate Veterans, as a guard of honor to the president, in whose carriage were seated Judge Jules Alford, chairman of the committee of arrangements, Mayor Lyons and Cllonel Edward Lafayette Russell. Following came the members of the president's party and members of the arrangement and reception committees and members of the press, in carriages. Stand was erected in Bienville square, which, long before the president arrived, was filled with a struggling crowd of citizens from all walks of life. It was brilliant with electric lights and overhead the magnificent groves of live-oaks formed a canopy of green. It is estimated that by the time the president began his address there was a crowd numbering 40,000 people within the sound of his voice. The president reached the stand at 5 o'clock, where he was received by a reception committee of 500 representative citizens amid the applause and acclaims of the populace. He appeared to be overwhelmed with pleasure at the spontaneity of his reception and stood up in his carriage and bowed right and left.

His seat was on an elevated dais in a chair which was built by the students of a technical school in Japan.

This is to certify that Dr. Behrens treated me in February, '04, for a very bad case of nervousness. Where others have failed to give me relief he cured me. I was at the time of calling on him, down, and sleep was impossible. My husband had lost sleep at night for months, now all can rest in perfect ease. He also treated my mother at the same time for a severe headache and neuralgia. Dr. Behrens gave her instant relief while talking to her over the phone.

Instituted and largely supported by the mikado. This chair is elaborately carved from a solid piece of mahogany, and the two arms represent the dragon of Japan. Back of chair was an enormous mous stuffed bear eight feet tall, bearing in its mouth a floral independence bell, and over its head a white dove holding a streamer on which was the inscription, "Blessed is the Peacemaker." The bear was killed in a hunting expedition by his majesty, Alexander II., of Russia, Feb. 11 to 23, 1857.

Hon. Oliver J. Semmes, son of the great Confederate, Admiral Raphael Semmes, then pinned on the lapel of the president's coat a handsome souvenir badge, as the gift of the people of Mobile. This badge consisted of a heavy cross-bar of eighteen karat gold, inscribed "Mobile, Ala.," from which is suspended by a heavy gold chain a gold scrollbar, upon which the inscription is "Blessed is the Peacemaker." Beneath the second bar there is a beautiful magnolia in full bloom, artistically enameled in white and resting on green magolia leaves enameled in three colors, the whole resting on a background of white silk ribbon.

In delivering the badge Judge Semmes said among other things: "Mr. President: I ask your attention for a moment. I have been delegated by the people of Mobile to present to you this token, a symbol of their faith as citizens of the United States. Though of itself of little intrinsic value, yet in sentiment it represents the loyalty, the worth and the honor of as brave, chivalric and noble a people as is to be found on the face of God's green earth. We, proud citizens of a proud republic, will, by your broad and judicious actions, so unite in bonds of friendship all sections of our loved country, will advance them till they become the foremost of nations, and may, without a misgiving, defy the world in arms. Should this awful necessity arise then the sons of the south will be a mighty armed camp. Take this little reminder, and when you look upon it amid your arduous and multifarious duties, feel that the people of Mobile have buried the past and look without fear to the future, recognizing that you, as is shown by your latest utterances, are the president of the north and south, our whole country. They regard you as a broad-minded American, and as such offer this badge, its pendant, a magnolia blossom, pure and spotless, typical of the womanhood and manhood of our southland, and peculiarly appropriate, as you are half southern."

Colonel Lafayette Russell, who formally introduced the president, paid a high tribute to the guest.

When President Roosevelt rose to respond, the applause was deafening for several seconds. The shades of evening were falling and the glow of the myriads of electric lights and emblems added to the scene.

In his speech the president said he had originally favored the Nicaraguan route for a canal, but when it was demonstrated it was the Panama canal or nothing, he favored the latter. He concluded by expressing his pleasure at seeing so many children.

The president then shook hands with hundreds of people. At the train he did likewise. President Roosevelt expressed himself in most enthusiastic terms concerning the pleasures afforded him by the warmth and whole-heartedness of his reception in Mobile.

FOUR NEW CASES.

The Rapid Decline of Yellow Fever Is Further Manifested.

New Orleans, Oct. 24.—Rapid decline is further manifested by Monday's report, which shows but four new cases and no deaths.

Many communications of congratulations are coming to Dr. White on the result of his work here. One of them was from Dr. Hunter and another from Governor Vardaman of Mississippi, and included an invitation to Dr. White to attend a barbecue at Vicksburg on Saturday in celebration of the successful fight against the fever there.

Dr. White, in summing up the results of the fight here, said that he believed that the correctness of the mosquito theory had again been completely demonstrated.

Natchez reports three new cases within the city limits, and one outside. Vicksburg reports one new case in city and two outside. All assistant marine hospital surgeons at latter place, four in number, have been discharged, and city medical inspectors have been believed from duty. Gulfport and Hattiesburg each reported a case.

Seven Cases, Two Deaths.

Pensacola, Fla., Oct. 24.—Seven new cases and two deaths was yellow fever report up to 6 o'clock Monday afternoon.
